Countermind Nominated for 2008 CSIA Apex Awards

Colorado's largest technology awards program recognizes the state's top technology companies and people

LITTLETON, Colo. – May 20, 2008 – Countermind, a mobile business solutions provider, earned a 2008 CSIA Apex Awards nomination for its MI Deliver product, a ready-to-deploy, mobile workflow processing application for parcel and product delivery companies. MI Deliver is being considered for the 'Most Innovative Technology Product' category based on the advanced functionalities, operational advantages and return on investment the new solution affords medium to large fleet management companies. For the past eight years, CSIA has recognized Colorado's advanced technology companies and people for their outstanding accomplishments and leadership. The event, presented by the CSIA, Colorado's Technology Association, will take place on June 5, 2008.

The CSIA Apex Awards have expressed well-deserved recognition for the numerous technical advancements produced in Colorado. Presented in twelve categories, the awards celebrate outstanding support, unique innovations, and noteworthy community contributions on the part of the people and companies operating within Colorado's advanced technology industry.

"It is an honor to be recognized by a well-respected industry organization like CSIA for our company's technological achievements," said Tom Smith, president of Countermind. "We are proud to be considered among Colorado's finest industry innovators."

"Colorado is full of technology visionaries and they deserve credit and acknowledgement for the innovative work they are doing, and we are honored to host an event to shine the spotlight on these amazing companies and people," said Su Hawk, president of CSIA.

The 2008 Apex Awards event is expected to draw more than 600 attendees from throughout the area. Tickets are available at www.coloradotechnology.org (click on the Apex Awards information) or call CSIA at 303.592.4070.
